THE compiler of the New Haven City Directory takes pleasure in the belief, that his little work has become almost indispensable with the business community, and that it is now annually looked for as a matter of course. No pains has been spared to evince a just appreciation of the public favor with which it has heretofore been received; and with a hope that in future years he may be enabled to pursue his plan under less embarrassing circumstances, he presents his SIXTH NUMBER in a style not inferior to any of its predecessors, and in the belief that it will be found more useful than any former volume.

FOX'S IMPROVED HOT AIR FURNACE,

For heating Dwelling Houses, Churches, Public Buildings, &c.

The subscriber having obtained the exclusive right for vending the above Furnaces in New Haven Co. can confidently recommend them to the public from the high reputation they have gained the past few years where they have been in successful operation, heating the Capitol and other public Buildings at the city of Washington, also at Utica, Boston, Hartford, and New Haven, and many other places; in which time they have been tested by the most competent judges, and for convenience, comfort, and economy, perfect safety at all times, the little attention that it requires, the uniform and equable temperature that it keeps up in all parts of the house, the summer like atmosphere that it gives out in the severest winter's day are excellences that render it in all respects superior to any other in use.

The subscriber has been favored with the following certificates:

During the past winter I have warmed my house with one of Fox's Patent Cast Iron Furnaces. I am much pleased with the article, because when well managed it saves a vast amount of trouble in a family, brings no dust, dirt, smoke or gas into the house—furnishes a dense medium of fresh and pure air throughout, with an equable temperature, rendering even the floors warm, and requires a less amount of fuel than would be necessary to warm so much space in any other mode.

The two Furnaces of the same kind in the Centre Church have been under my supervision for the year since they were built. They have given entire satisfaction, affording an abundance of heat even in the coldest weather, and consuming no more fuel than we ordinarily used in our old stoves.

CHARLES ROBINSON.

The subscribers have used Fox's Patent Furnaces, and concur fully in the views of Mr. Robinson as to their utility. T. Sherman, Edward Strong, Nathl. Bacon, Nathl. A. Bacon, Thomas L. Chester.
